CT HEAD AND CEREBRAL ANGIOGRAM

Technical Note : NCCT Head done by taking sequential axial scans at base to higher level followed by Angio-CT by taking contiguous axial scans with reformatted images. Images were acquired on 128 slice Philips CT scan.

Findings:

Diffuse hyperdensity is seen in left lateral ventricle extending to the right lateral, third and fourth ventricles. Dilated left lateral ventricle is seen with the frontal horn measuring 11.4 mm (TR). Cisterns are normal. Normal brain parenchyma is seen.

The petrous, cavernous and supraclinoid ICA segments are patent with normal outline and calibre. The ICA bifurcations, visualised bilateral ACA and bilateral MCA branches are unremarkable with no evidence of high-grade stenosis. ACom is present. The vertebral arteries, basilar artery and bilateral posterior cerebral arteries are unremarkable with no evidence of high-grade stenosis. No evidence of vascular calcification is seen. No evidence of extra or intracranial dissection is seen. No sizeable ectatic artery, aneurysm or AVM is seen in the arteries.

Impression: Intraventricular hemorrhage with predominance of left lateral ventricular bleed with mild obstructive hydrocephalus involving the left lateral ventricle. Normal cerebral angiographic study. No evidence of stenosis/aneurysm/AVM noted. DSA suggested for further evaluation.

Thank you for the referral.
